

On Wednesday, May 22nd, Brett Holt issued an announcement about FEMA's release of Podcast #38:

A Message from Brett Holt, FEMA

-----Original Message-----

FROM: Holt, Brett <Brett.Holt@fema.dhs.gov>

DATE: Wed 5/22/2019 3:04 PM

Good afternoon –

We're excited about today's podcast highlighting the work of the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network. This is an engaging, inclusive network making advances in peer-to-peer learning that support the private sector, local government, tribes, states, schools, and the general public. We know that we can't do this alone so let's reach out to a friend or an acquaintance to find support and share lessons. Take a listen and share with all who would be interested!

Brett Holt

Stakeholder Relations at FEMA Region 10

Office of External Affairs

Private Sector · Associations · Academia · International Affairs · Limited English Proficiency

 You are receiving this message as you have been identified as a valuable external stakeholder by myself. If you do not wish to receive such updates in the future, please let me know.

FEMA REGION 10 ADVISORY

FEMA releases Podcast #38:

“Advancing Wildfire Resilience through the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network”
May 22, 2019

BOTHELL, Wash. – Today, FEMA released the podcast “Advancing Wildfire Resilience through the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network.” Since 2013, the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network (FAC Net) has connected and supported people and communities who are striving to live more safely with wildfire. FAC Net serves as a catalyst for spreading best practices and innovations in fire adaptation concepts nationwide.

FEMA Region 10 visited Ashland, Oregon, in April, interviewing members of FAC Net during its annual workshop. Michelle Medley-Daniel with the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network, Allie Lerch and Chris Chambers with Ashland Fire & Rescue, and Hilary Lundgren with the Washington Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network shared perspectives and experiences on successes, tools and growth of the network from eight to 24 communities.

Download this episode of the FEMA podcast at www.fema.gov/podcast. The FEMA podcast is available on Apple iTunes and Google Play to stream or download.

About the FEMA Podcast

The FEMA podcast is an audio program series available to anyone interested in learning more about the Agency, hearing about innovation in the field of emergency management, and listening to stories about communities and individuals recovering after disasters.

Approximately 20 to 30 minutes in length, new podcast episodes are updated weekly and each episode includes a link to its transcript.

###

FEMA's mission is helping people before, during, and after disasters.

FEMA

FEMA REGION 10 ADVISORY

FEMA releases Podcast #38: “Advancing Wildfire Resilience through the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network”

May 22, 2019

BOTHELL, Wash. – Today, FEMA released the podcast “Advancing Wildfire Resilience through the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network.” Since 2013, the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network (FAC Net) has connected and supported people and communities who are striving to live more safely with wildfire. FAC Net serves as a catalyst for spreading best practices and innovations in fire adaptation concepts nationwide.

FEMA Region 10 visited Ashland, Oregon, in April, interviewing members of FAC Net during its annual workshop. Michelle Medley-Daniel with the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network, Allie Lerch and Chris Chambers with Ashland Fire & Rescue, and Hilary Lundgren with the Washington Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network shared perspectives and experiences on successes, tools and growth of the network from eight to 24 communities.

Download this episode of the FEMA podcast at www.fema.gov/podcast. The FEMA podcast is available on Apple iTunes and Google Play to stream or download.

About the FEMA Podcast

The FEMA podcast is an audio program series available to anyone interested in learning more about the Agency, hearing about innovation in the field of emergency management, and listening to stories about communities and individuals recovering after disasters.

Approximately 20 to 30 minutes in length, new podcast episodes are updated weekly and each episode includes a link to its transcript.

###

FEMA's mission is helping people before, during, and after disasters.